SWAMPED HARVARD

Way, the Blue Twirler, Held the Crimson Sluggers to Four Scratch Hits-Yale Got the Jump in the First Inning-Cornish Lined Out Three Bagger.

New Haven, Conn., June 16.— and the Blue to a 6 to 1 victory over Harvard before an overflow commencement crowd on Yale field. The former Exeter man, pitching his first "big" game, held the heavy hitting Crimson sluggers to four hits, three being of the scratch variety. He fanned ten men, including the head of the batting list. Many of his strikeouts came at critical periods.

Yale got the jump in the first inning by timely hitting and daring base running. Harvard had a bad attack of nervousness in the first part of the game and threw wildly around the bases. Outside of Way's pitching, the game was practically devoid of features, except when Cornish brought the crowd to its feet with a line drive to left field for three bases. The score:

Want to See Close Race For Pennant.

With the prospect of seeing a new pennant winner in the National League this year and as a result, a new contender for world's champion-ship honors next October, the fans are taking more interest in baseball than they were a month ago and reports from officials prove that there has been a steady increase in the attendance. The Athletics are beginning to make a runaway race of it in the American League, but the National League race has settled down to the closest in years, with several clubs having a look in for the pennant.

The New York Giants are leading just now by a liberal margin, but not far enough in front to make their position safe, with three or four of the clubs behind them closely bunched and fighting hard. Despite the fact that the Pirates slumped badly after settle a terrific pace at the start, and the Reds were given a severe set-back by dropping three out of the four games last week to the Phillies, these two clubs are still to be reckonded with, while the Cardinals and Cuos have been coming steadily and gaining on the leaders.

have been coming steadily and gain-ing on the leaders.

New York did not take the lead New York did not take the lead until July last year, but with the exception of the Phillies, the other contestants in the penant race were not setting the pace they are doing this year. The Giants are not going nearly so well now as they were this time last year, and it would be no great surprise if they were dropped out of first place. McGraw's pitching staff is none too strong. Mathewson has been getting bumped hard and often, showing that the veteran is beginning to feel the weight of long service, and "Rube" Marquard has not been of much use to the Giants this season.

Smith has turned the tables of the clever Clabby.

Before leaving for Australia, Claboy fought twenty rounds with Billy Murray in San Francisco, the decision before a clabour of the control of the cont ing a draw, although it was claimed by all the papers that Clabby easily outpointed the California boy. Muroutpointed the California boy. Murray since that time, has been making good in the east and the chances are that he will go to Australia for a series of matches under the direction of Snowy Baker, if plans which are now being negotiated materialize.

If Murray goes to Australia he will be matched up with Jeff Smith and also Clabby, and the winner of these contests will, in all probability, be matched with Eddie McGoorty. It is a question whether McGoorty can make the middleweight limit, which is 158 pounds ringside.

Jack Dillon and George Chip also tion about Dillon making the weight. Mike Gibbons can also be considered as a contender, for Mike seems to have developed a real punch of late. However, it seems that the middle weights are getting a little closer together and before long we may have a champion to take the place of the late Stanley Ketchel.

Clabby's defeat in Australia was a great surpirse to the followers of the game there, as he was a big favorite and was picked to beat Smith. The papers all said Clabby should have had a draw. Clabby was given the preference of a match with McGoorty, July 4, in Sydney. It seems to be a great year for surprises all around in the boxing game.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

MARKET MOVED DOWNWARD. Position on Shore Side, Position on Short Side.

New York, June 16.—The monotony of recent days on the stock exchange was broken today by a definite down-ward movement. Professional traders, wearied by profitless sessions of duliness and narrow fluctuations took a decided position on the short side. It was soon evident that the list was more susceptible to pressure, and selling increased. While the day's business was not large, stocks were put out steadily enough to force a progressive decline, amounting to a point or more in a long list of stocks. So far as definite developments went there was nothing of sufficient importance to account for the decline.
Of rumors there were plenty. Wall Street happened to be in the mood to listen to rumors and sell stocks on them. Perhaps most importance was attached to a report from Washing-ton to the effect that the freight rate New Britain

Case would not be decided until next month, and that when the ruling was made it would be disappointing to the railroads. It was understood that there was no official backing for the report, but it was used successfully for selling the market. Another report which belonged in the same class was that the Mexican mediators were in such difficulties that negotiations in such difficulties that negotiations probably would be broken off speed-

With bearish sentiment in the ascendency the Street attached more importance today to the stream of gold which is still flowing out of the country. Today's engagement of gold for Europe amounted to $5,500,000, bringing up the week's total thus far to more than $10,000,000. Since January 1, $65,000,000 of gold has been question which has been bothering the followers of boxing in the two hemispheres for the past year or two, seems to be in a fair way of being definitely settled. Jimmy Clabby, who has been one of the real contenders for the title at the legitimate weight, suffered a severe set-back the past week in Australia, when he lost a 20-pound decision to Jeff Smith, the New York middleweight. These two boys met in New York three years ago in a tenround contest as welterweights, and at that time Clabby was credited with a victory. Since then both have developed into real middleweights and now Smith has turned the tables on the clever Clabby.

Resolute Undergoes Change.

The flag officers' sloop Resolute made a complete change in her rig when se came off the marine railway. Her mast was changed from the forward to the after step, a longer bowsprit was set up and she will have a double head rig instead of a single head rig, which she used in her recent races against the Vanitie. In her present condition the time allowance which the Resolute received from the Vanitie wil be reduced from approximately 3 minutes over a 30-mile course to about a minute. The change is a reversion of her original rig and it was stated that it had not been decided whether it would be permanent. Resolute Undergoes Change. it would be permanent.

While the Resolute was on the railway she had her underbody scrubbed and a few minor alterations made.
